COMMUNITY ENGAGEMENT

Hundreds of Middlesex students participate in community-engagement activities, including Service-Learning. These community-based experiences integrate community service with classroom instruction and meet identified community needs. They focus on critical, reflective thinking and civic responsibility, and are unique collaborations between faculty, staff, students and our community partners. Middlesex was selected by Campus Compact as one of only 13 colleges to be named a model of exemplary practices of civic engagement.

CORPORATE AND COMMUNITY EDUCATION & TRAINING

Middlesex is dedicated to advancing the economic growth and vitality of its service-area businesses and organizations through continuous workforce development and training activities tailored to the unique needs of each organization. MCC offers a comprehensive selection of results-oriented education and training programs to thousands of employees in hundreds of businesses, industries and municipalities. Our goal is to provide the education and training tools businesses need to help employees succeed.

ECONOMIC IMPACT

MCC has a huge impact on the area's economy that extends well beyond the education and training provided to individuals, as well as area businesses and organizations. The college contributes significantly to the economic vitality of the communities it serves, employing area residents, and purchasing many goods and services.

- TOTAL ECONOMIC IMPACT:
- Nearly $100 million in Middlesex County
 - $146 million in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts

Includes payroll, benefits, purchasing and construction, and student and visitor spending.

PARTNERSHIPS

Middlesex has developed dynamic partnerships and creative collaborations with neighboring school districts, colleges, and area businesses and organizations, as well as many foreign countries. These innovative alliances have played a significant role in the growth of the college and the communities it serves. Middlesex is a recognized leader in global education, enjoying partnerships with dozens of countries. Our international partnerships are designed to help faculty and students, as well as businesses here and abroad, adapt to the realities of a global economy. The college is active in helping other countries modernize and upgrade their educational and economic infrastructures, and has established partnerships with national and international organizations in many other countries to provide workforce development and technical assistance projects.

MCC FOUNDATION

The MCC Foundation (MCCF) was created in 1988 to enlist private sector support to further the educational and charitable purposes of the college. It is the vehicle for fundraising from individuals, alumni, corporations, small businesses and private foundations. The MCC Foundation has generated income through revenue from investments managed by the MCC Foundation Board of Directors and from the proceeds of the college's annual Celebrity Forum fundraiser. Proceeds from the Middlesex Fund provide an additional source of income.
